In this case, presenter should offer reviewers an opportunity to purchase a second ticket. When it has been decided where the reviewers for your event are to be seated, it is wise to call arts and entertainment assignment editors to invite coverage and determine whether a reviewer will be assigned. At that time, the editor should be told where the press tickets are to be picked up. Tickets are best left at the Ticket Office "Will Call" window.

14. Broadcast and News Coverage
For broadcast news, print or photographic coverage, several basic rules apply: inside the theater arrangements must be made with the House Management and Public Relations Department at least 24 hours in advance. For general broadcast news coverage, crews may be admitted when all concerned with the event are in agreement that the presence of cameras will not disturb the event or patrons. Facilities available for placement of cameras vary for each theater. Arrangements must be made with the STRAZ Production Department. Photojournalists and television crews, if expected in large numbers, should be offered a "photo-call" at dress rehearsal so they can shoot with lights and/or electronic flash. The wishes of the producer and performers must be respected and the length of the session and rules for it should be determined in advance. If still photographers are to be present during an actual performance, it should be stipulated that no flash and motor-drive are to be used and that photographs should be made only during entrances and applause, or appropriate breaks in the performance and curtain calls. Photographers may be seated in front of television crews. At any performance, a press representative for the attraction should be present to escort television crews or photographers (except for the official STRAZ photographers). All crews and photographers should be in place 30 minutes before performance time so that neither the audience nor the performance is disrupted.

15. Parking for Media
Advise media to come by cab or park in public garage, arriving early enough to gain entry. Parking for television vans should be cleared in advance with Security 813.222.1070. Television crews generally will be directed to unload and park their marked vehicles to avoid obstructing the entrances. STRAZ should be notified well in advance when crews are expected.
